

student NEWS

Manuela Corti and Milap Sandhu, students in the rehabilitation science doctoral program, received 2008 International Student Academic Awards from UF's International Center.

Rehabilitation science doctoral students Elisa Gonzalez-Rothi, P.T., D.P.T., and Virginia Little, P.T., M.S., N.C.S., are among six national recipients of Florence P. Kendall Doctoral Scholarships from the Foundation for Physical Therapy Board of Trustees.

Ida Kellison and Ania Mikos, doctoral students in the department of clinical and health psychology, received Benton-Meier Neuropsychology Scholarships from the American Psychological Foundation. Only two of these scholarships are awarded nationally each year with UF students claiming both 2008 awards.

Annesha Lovett, Pharm.D., a student in the health services research doctoral program, received a fellowship in health outcomes research from the Pharmaceutical Research and Manufacturers of America Foundation.

Shannon Sisco, a student in the clinical and health psychology doctoral program, was awarded a National Institute on Aging Predoctoral Fellowship in Aging.

Laura Zahodne, a student in the clinical and health psychology doctoral program, received a scholarship from the National Parkinson Study Group to present her paper at the 2008 Parkinson Study Group and Movement Disorders Society's annual symposium. ●

faculty NOTES & staff

Alba Amaya-Burns, M.D., a clinical associate professor in the department of behavioral science and community health, received an International Educator Award from UF's International Center.

Andrea Behrman, Ph.D., PT., an associate professor in the department of physical therapy, received the first Alumni Excellence in Clinical Practice Award from Duke University. She was also elected a Catherine Worthingham Fellow by the American Physical Therapy Association.

Lilliana Bell, project coordinator in the department of health services research, management and policy, and Jason Rogers, coordinator of computer applications in the department of occupational therapy, received Superior Accomplishment awards from the university.

Rehabilitation counseling faculty member Dale Roberts explains counseling techniques to graduate student Loretta Shalik in this 1979 photo.

Terese Chmielewski, Ph.D., P.T., an assistant professor in the department of physical therapy, received the James A. Gould Excellence in Teaching Orthopaedic Physical Therapy Award.

Bruce Crosson, Ph.D., a professor in the department of clinical and health psychology, received a Senior Research Career Scientist award from the Department of Veterans Affairs Rehabilitation Research and Development Service.

R. Paul Duncan, Ph.D., professor and chair of the department of health services research, management and policy, was named a UF Research Foundation Professor.

Steven George, Ph.D. P.T., assistant professor in the department of physical therapy, received the John C. Liebeskind Early Career Scholar Award from the American Pain Society.

Donna Stilwell, the office manager for the department of health services research, management and policy, was named the college's 2008 Employee of the Year at the 50th anniversary celebration dinner. ●