“Research and Clinical Practice... Or Clinically Based Research?”

It’s our first event of the year! Join us for drinks and hors d’oeuvres as guest speaker, Dr. Lori Michener of University of Southern California, delivers a compelling talk on the topic of connecting research and clinical practice through the integral link of clinician involvement!

Wed, Mar 4 | 5-7:30 PM
Brooks Assembly 1 & 2
3599 University Blvd S.

*CEUs available for PT, OT, SLP, Nursing

About our Guest Speaker
Lori Michener, PT, ATC, PhD, FAPTA

Dr. Michener is a Professor and clinician at the University of Southern California. She is also director of the Clinical Biomechanics and Orthopedic Outcomes Research Laboratory, where she oversees the development, collection, and analysis of patient-rated outcomes and process of care in the USC Physical Therapy clinics, and serves as a resource for clinical research. She has maintained a clinical practice throughout her career and is currently treating patients at the UPC location of USC Physical Therapy Associates, Los Angeles, CA.